A Structured Documentation Generator for NetLogo Models

Working Paper

JUSTE RAIMBAULT

Date

Abstract

A crucial point for a model to be reproducible or an application to be comprehensively used is a full and structured documentation, including description of primitives not necessarily directly called by the user. We describe a tool based on filter implementation for `Doxygen` [] that allow such generation for NetLogo models.